Hope Is a Small Rebellion

Hope is a small rebellion that grows.

It moves through our bodies crying out to be heard.

It shouts -let my people go.

Hope is a small rebellion that grows

When we see birds at a bird feeder even when the land is dry.

Hope is a small rebellion that grows

When someone tells us they may forget our names but will remember our kindness.

Hope is a small rebellion that grows

When you get up each day to face another challenge.

Hope is a small rebellion that grows

When each Sunday we light a candle to acknowledge that Christ is with us.

Hope is a small rebellion that grows

Because we are united women in faith.

Hope is a small rebellion that grows

When our pronouns become us because no one is left out.

Hope is a rebellion that grows

When Christ lives in us.
