Texas Impact's Courts & Ports Advocacy Intensive is now underway! We are excited to kick things off but wanted to let folks who were unable to attend know how they can help. Over these two days we will be presenting and training religious leaders and people of faith on how to advocate on the border crisis. You can do your part by sharing as many social media posts related to this event as you can find on your social media feeds. That means sharing as many facebook posts as you can and retweeting as many tweets as you can. We want to be heard so that others can be heard and you can help us achieve this by a few simple clicks.

Texas Impact's Courts & Ports Advocacy Intensive is underway! Participants are on the bus to the border to learn about the way our legal system treats migrants and to advocate for the migrants marginalized by our current politically-engineered crisis. To learn more about what they're doing or participate yourself in the future, please check out texasimpact.org/courts-ports/

After Event

Texas Impact's Courts & Ports Advocacy Intensive has wrapped up but the border crisis continues and now it's up to all of us to carry the messages we heard here to the halls of power in Washington, D.C.

First, we would like to thank the First Presbyterian Church in McAllen for providing a venue for the Advocacy Intensive as well as providing lodging for Texas Impact's staff. We would also like to thank Cathy Stone for working with Texas Impact to provide all of our attendees with delicious and healthy meals for the duration of our stay. A special thanks to Unlimited Transportation, LLC. for their charter bus.

If you attended the Courts & Ports Advocacy Intensive and have not signed up to visit your member of Congress in D.C. then we do ask that you seriously consider registering. If not, then please continue calling, posting, tweeting, and writing your members of Congress to do justice.
