

If you want legislators to vote for better policy, then we have to support them at the ballot box. Good news: Texas Impact has a tool to help! Ballot Ready is a nonpartisan, data-driven tool that helps voters register, make a plan to vote, and look up their elected representatives. BallotReady helps impassioned voters scale their impact and get out the vote with peer-to-peer tools like shareable QR codes and links. Visit the QR code below to get started.

BallotReady was founded in 2015, and now helps millions of constituents take action with data on hundreds of thousands of candidates and elected officials. BallotReady is backed by the University of Chicago, the National Science Foundation, and the Knight Foundation and is committed to making democracy work the way it should.

Mobilize Other Voters

It's great to be a voter...and even better when you recruit others to join you! You can be an individual election mobilizer, or you can sign up your congregation or group. Click the QR code to sign up to be an election mobilizer and track how many voters you or your group have engaged.

Mobilize Your Team

Once you have your QR code, you are ready to get to work. But, democracy is more fun with friends, so organize a team to join you. Recruit your congregation, small group or a team of friends to engage voters together. Set internal goals for voter engagement. Meet with your group, congregation or team and develop strategies to mobilize your community and networks to vote. Need some ideas on where to engage voters?

- ✓ Set a goal of 100% voter participation in your congregation
- ✓ Set up outside of your local food pantry or day care
- ✓ Visit your local university or college ministry
- ✓ Email engagement@texasimpact.org to let us know how you plan to engage voters so we can share with our network!

Share your QR code widely and track your progress toward your goals.

Work the Polls

Everything's bigger in Texas, including our election system! With 254 counties and 1,218 cities, recruiting and training poll workers takes constant effort. Each election requires tens of thousands of personnel, including election judges; election clerks; and temporary county employees. Individuals serving in all of these roles have a significant impact on Texans' voting experience. They are essential to minimizing mistakes, hassle, and wait times for voters.
